Dear Parents and Students:

Going to college can be a great adventure. So, too, can the process of choosing a college. I've written this booklet to provide you with the information you need as you go through the process of making decisions about higher education. You are making a choice that will not only affect you for the time you spend in college, but for the rest of your life.

Parents are partners in the search for a college, sharing the anxiety, excitement and satisfaction. The college search process has real potential as a shared learning experience. Open and honest communication is critical to the success of this process.

Higher education in America comes in all shapes and sizes. Our colleges and universities range from the famous to the unknown. Some are rural; some are urban. Some are public; some are independent or private. Some are large; some are small. There are many good college choices for your son or daughter, not a single, right choice. This nation provides us with a variety of colleges and universities, giving us wide access to higher education. Each has a distinct personality.

Perhaps the most important questions you have to answer before you begin to choose a college are: What are your most important reasons for wanting to go to college? What do you hope to get out of the years you're going to spend there?

Most college applications are made through Naviance. It is a web-based software program that assists in managing the college selection process as well as assisting in career searches. Each year, students are given tasks to complete through Naviance to familiarize them in its use.

For now, begin by reading this booklet. It's newly revised and meant to be a handbook of sorts as you begin the process of choosing a college. Know that we are available to help you with any questions and/or concerns that you may have. Please call, e-mail us or click on the Counseling Department link on the Providence Catholic website at (www.providencecatholic.org). Good luck!

Sincerely,

Pamela J. Ryan

WHAT DOES PROVIDENCE CATHOLIC DO TO PREPARE MY STUDENT TO ATTEND COLLEGE?

Providence Catholic is a college preparatory high school. As such, we believe it is our responsibility to prepare every graduating student to attend the college or university of his/her choice.

A high school education is no longer sufficient to prepare someone for a career as an adult. All students must realize that further study - whether it be at a college, university, trade or manual arts school, professional school or the United States Military Service - will require the application of learning skills and good study habits to enable them to reach their objectives after high school.

In the second semester of the freshman, sophomore and junior years, counselors visit classrooms to help students schedule their classes for the following school year. At this time, information on college admission criteria and required high school courses for admission into the various institutions are explored. Students are reminded of the importance of good G.P.A.s and standardized test scores as well as involvement in school activities at this time as well as during individual conferences between students and their counselors.

To prepare for post-secondary education and careers, standardized testing takes place in the fall. Freshmen and sophomores take an ACT prep test (to aid in planning and preparation for the ACT and beyond); and juniors take a retired ACT test with some also taking the Preliminary Scholastic Assessment Test (PSAT). Juniors and seniors who will be attending colleges or universities that require the American College Test (ACT) or the Scholastic Assessment Test (SAT) are encouraged to take it. We require all of our students to take the ACT in April or June of their junior year.

All students are interviewed by their school counselor who reviews their academic progress as well as their use of Naviance Family Connection to prepare them for the ACT and other national examinations. During junior year, the ACT preparation course is offered at Providence Catholic.

In Economics class, students learn how to complete applications for loans and credit forms. They research the cost of attending college and how to make a personal budget. All students are required by Illinois State Law to take Economics, although Macro Economics may be substituted in its place.

Students and parents can also utilize their Naviance Family Connection account as well as the Counseling Department section of the Providence Catholic website (www.providencecatholic.org.) You'll find it under "Current Students" on the home page. The Counseling section has linked resources that will assist you in every aspect of the college selection process.

In the spring, interactive college planning meetings hosted by our college counselors are held with every junior and his or her parent(s) which last about 60-90 minutes. Families are provided a comprehensive explanation of the college search and selection process using Naviance Family Connection. They are given a take home packet that reviews the points covered.

Providence Catholic also hosts a Spring College Fair during the school day. This year's date is April 20, 2018. College representatives are available to assist sophomores and juniors in gathering information for decision making. Parents are invited to attend this Spring College Fair also. We also offer a College Night for Juniors and Their Parents to aid parents with the college selection process. This year's date is March 27, 2018.

During senior year, each student is interviewed by the college counselors. Some students are seen many times during the year depending on their needs. The college counselors assist all seniors with the college application process.

We also offer a College Night for Seniors and Their Parents to aid parents and students in the application and admissions process. This year's date is September 12, 2017.

Our college counselors present a parent college night to help parents through the college search process. This year's date is November 2, 2017. All Providence Catholic parents of freshmen and sophomores are invited to attend. Especially if you are a "first timer" at sending a son or daughter to college, the information presented by our own college counselor will prove helpful. The purpose is to explain how to incorporate the career planning tools on Naviance Family Connection with the college selection process.

The college counselors direct students to information on careers and on colleges through Naviance Family Connection. Over eighty college representatives are interviewed every year by the Counseling Department and are provided with information and are available to meet with students during school time. The Counseling Department assists students in locating applications online from schools and universities from across the country. The Counseling Department writes individual letters of recommendation for applying senior students. The majority of Providence Catholic seniors apply to at least six-eight colleges.

The Counseling Department explains the registration process for students taking the ACT, SAT, and the Achievement Tests of the College Board. Students are informed on a regular basis about the visits of college representatives and scholarship information available which will be useful to them.

A monthly letter is emailed home to parents of seniors outlining upcoming college visits, scholarship deadlines, financial aid and other important information. The college counselors complete athletic requirement information for Providence Catholic athletes. Completed college applications including transcripts are forwarded to the appropriate institutions.

The Counseling Department works in cooperation with the other area high schools to conduct community wide college night programs. The Moraine Valley College Fair is October 11, 2017 the Joliet Junior College Fair is on October 18, 2017, and the Illinois Regional College Fair at Lewis University is on March 6, 2018. Financial information forms are available online. The Counseling Department answers questions students have about applications and admissions and talks to and meets with parents about college preparation. A file is kept on all students as to their interests, academic information, test scores and preparation for college.

The Counseling Department attends professional seminars and tracks the college and career plans of graduating seniors. Each year, the counselors talk with students about college and the necessary requirements. In the spring, the focus is on juniors and discussing college choices. The Counseling Department informs students of summer courses and programs offered around the country. Providence Catholic High School is delighted that 99% of the Class of 2017 went immediately to the college or university of their choice.

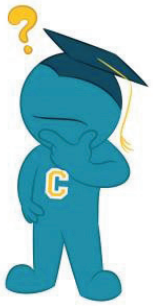
HOW DO I CHOOSE A COLLEGE?



There are many factors to consider when deciding where you want to further your education. Use Naviance Family Connection to research and determine colleges that fit your personal criteria.

ACADEMICS

The type of academic atmosphere and the variety of courses offered should be considered. Colleges offer a wide variety of majors or areas of study. Unusual majors such as Marine Biology or Homeland Security are not offered at all colleges and universities. If you are fairly sure of your major, be sure to check that department at the colleges you are considering. Be sure they offer strong courses in the field of your special interest.

The choice of a major is one of the most difficult decisions you will have to make. Usually only one out of about four high school graduates has a pretty good idea of what he or she wants to major in. If you are unsure, look for schools that have a wide variety of majors, usually called liberal arts colleges.

Be sure the colleges you are considering are accredited and have good library and laboratory facilities. They should have a good faculty and the college should have a good reputation.

SIZE

There is a great difference between attending a small school and a large school. Large schools have an enrollment of 15,000 and above. Medium schools have an enrollment from 7,000-15,000. Small schools have an enrollment up to 7,000. Medium and larger schools have a greater variety in course offerings and majors. Smaller schools offer more personal student-teacher relationships and a more family-like atmosphere.

LOCATION

Colleges in major cities differ greatly from those in smaller towns or rural areas. Some will have a large campus; others are in the heart of a city. Each of these settings has advantages and disadvantages. Do you want to be in a city where there is easy access to action and less restriction to campus? Do you prefer the suburbs where there is a little more quiet but still access to a city? Would you be more comfortable in a rural setting? Do you want to be close to home or far away? Colleges located a great distance from your home may limit your visits home and the cost of transportation will have to be included in your expenses.

OTHER FACTORS

Are there special extracurricular activities or sports programs that you want available to you? You may want to consider the athletic programs, social life, nearby cities, transportation possibilities, and security procedures as well as other factors.

Do the colleges you are considering have strong financial aid programs? Do they have good placement bureaus?

Some schools may not offer everything you want. You may need to make a priority list of those factors that are most important and make some compromises.

HOW DO I TALK WITH A COLLEGE REPRESENTATIVE AT PROVIDENCE CATHOLIC?

A calendar is posted in a glass case outside the Counseling Center. When visits for college representatives are scheduled, they will be posted on the calendar as well as outside of the Theology classrooms. They are also posted on Naviance Family Connection and listed in the all-school daily announcements. Juniors and seniors are to check the lists frequently and request a pass from one of the college counselors or the Counseling Department administrative assistant at least two days before the representative's visit. The student then takes the pass to the teacher of the class that will be missed at least one day prior to missing class. The teacher has the option of signing the pass to excuse the student from class. Over eighty representatives visit Providence Catholic from colleges every year.

SHOULD I PLAN A VISIT TO A COLLEGE I'M CONSIDERING?

If you plan on attending a college for two or four years, you should certainly visit in person. Continue your college visits; Easter vacation of your junior year may be a good time to do so. Each senior is allowed to take one college day to visit a prospective college. This is an excused absence. The student is to get the appropriate form from one of the college counselors or the Counseling Department administrative assistant to take with him/her. The form must be validated by an Admissions Counselor at the college that is visited and submitted to the Dean's Office upon return to school. Arrangements must be made in writing with one of the college counselors for the visit at least one week prior to the visit. Seniors are to take their college day before May 1st.

Going to a college, preferably with your parents, and visiting the Admissions Office, dorms, classes, touring the campus, and talking with students is the best way for you to investigate colleges. You will see for yourself where you would live, eat, socialize and study. You may attend an Open House or schedule an individual appointment.

Plan in advance to attend a college for a visit. Most visits can be arranged through the college's website, or you can call ahead to schedule your visit. Request a campus map, parking pass and names of motels/hotels close to campus (or on-campus accommodations) if an overnight stay will be necessary.

Speaking of emails, we advise you to use your Providence Catholic email account to communicate with colleges and potential employers. Often this is your first contact with them and you want it to be a professional one. Emails with things like "StudBoy," or "CutePie," etc., in the address are not appropriate. Do not treat an online application casually. An admissions office does not want to see smiley faces or slang.

Arrange to have an interview with an Admissions Counselor to discuss the possibility of your acceptance and financial aid availability. You may also want to request a meeting with a faculty member in your prospective major. They all will be happy to answer all of your questions. Talk to students. Pick up a copy of the school newspaper. Read the bulletin boards.

When you visit a college, you should dress comfortably, but neatly. Just as you will receive an impression of the school while visiting, you will also be giving an impression of yourself to the school. You should know your grade point average, test scores, intended areas of study and have ready any specific questions you may want to ask. In this way, you will find out all you can about the college and the Admissions Counselor will get to know you better, too. Remember that the college admissions process is two-sided: You choose the college that you are interested in and colleges choose the students they are interested in.

Following are some questions you might want to check out on the college's website as well as ask during a college visit.

1. What is the average GPA of entering freshmen? ACT or SAT score?
2. What is the faculty-student ratio?
3. What is the average class size for an introductory course? An advanced course?
4. How is the academic calendar year set up? Semesters? Quarters?
5. How is admission to the college determined?
6. When is the application deadline? When will I know if I've been admitted? Is there a non-refundable deposit?
7. What is the educational background of the faculty?
8. What on-campus support services are available?
9. What is the school's overall placement rate for jobs after a student graduates? What is it in my intended major? Where do these graduates work?
10. What are the school's basic costs (tuition, fees, room and board, supplies, books, expenses)? What is next year's anticipated cost?
11. What kinds of financial aid programs are available? What forms should I fill out? By when? Are there any special scholarships offered by the school or its alumni? What percentage of financial need is met?
12. How long will it take to earn the degree that I'm interested in?

13. What off-campus educational opportunities are available? Are there internships in my area of interest?
14. What are their security procedures?
15. What opportunities are offered to study abroad for my major?

It should be helpful to make up a comparison chart using these and any other questions you may have to aid in your decision making process. In this way, all pertinent information will be at your fingertips.

Ask for a business card from the Admissions Counselor and Financial Aid Counselor when you visit. It helps with spelling and titles for any future correspondence. Shortly after a college visit, send a thank you note to the Admissions Counselor.

HOW DO I OBTAIN AN APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION?

You may access an admissions application online on the school's website. Many schools subscribe to the Common Application service and that may be accessed at www.commonapp.org From the website you can determine the criteria for admission, what tests they accept: the ACT, ACT plus writing or the SAT and Achievement Tests. Also determine what level of scores they require. What specifically do they use in order to determine admission? You may also locate financial aid information on the school's website.

HOW MANY SCHOOLS SHOULD I APPLY TO?

The cost of applying to a college or university is usually anywhere from $30-$65 per school. This is non-refundable money. Expenses can add up quickly. The number of applications you make should depend on what it costs and your time and interest. Never file an application for admission to a college which you would not gladly attend if offered the choice.

There are several seniors who literally throw money away by applying to colleges and universities which they know will not accept them. Usually most seniors apply to six-eight schools. Don't be afraid to select at least one "reach" school (one where you have only a slim chance). Definitely pick two schools where you're reasonably sure of admission (usually one of them a state school). If you are not sure whether or not you can get into a school, the college counselors will help you find out.

WHEN SHOULD I APPLY?

Our philosophy is to apply as early as possible in the beginning of your senior year because college admissions have become extremely competitive. Applications should not be submitted before the first week of school. Students must meet with the college counselors before requesting their transcripts. Some of our state schools close admission in January of your senior year. It's definitely to your advantage to file the application before the deadline given. Many schools have a priority deadline of November 1 so it is to your advantage to apply by October 27.

Under an Early Decision Plan, you apply in the early fall of your senior year. A binding commitment is made by the student to an institution that, if admitted, the student will enroll. You'll be notified about admission in mid-December. A student may apply to other colleges, but may have only one early decision application pending at any time. The Early Action Plan, used by several of the country's moderately selective and selective colleges, allows a student to apply early in the fall of the senior year for consideration based upon work completed through the end of the junior year. While similar to Early Decision, Early Action has two different features. Even if accepted, a student who has filed an Early Action application is free to file an application for admission to other colleges and you may defer making a commitment to the college until May 1. Since terms may vary, be sure to read and understand the specifics of the Early Decision/Early Action Plan you're interested in before you submit the application.

For those not using one of these plans, your choices for college should be narrowed by October. You should be completing the application process through our college counselors by October 27. Some programs like Engineering, Business, and Nursing may close their admission by November. The earlier you apply and are accepted, the earlier you can begin pursuing financial aid.

HOW DO I APPLY?

The application process occurs through our college counselors. Students must obtain an Application Tracking Slip for each application you are submitting from the Counseling Department administrative assistant or the college counselors. This method is the most efficient way of applying because college admissions offices receive all the necessary forms and information at the same time.

The following are necessary for the college counselors to complete the application process:

1. The completed Application Tracking Slip
2. Use your Naviance Family Connection account and add the school to which you are applying. All supporting documents such as transcripts and letters of recommendation will be sent electronically through Naviance Family Connection.
3. If using the Common Application, a student must match their Common Application account with Naviance Family Connection through the Naviance Family Connection website.
4. A letter of recommendation (*if required)
5. Counselor letter of recommendation (*if required)

Be sure you have completed the Release of Transcripts Form so that transcripts can be sent with your application. When applying online, hand in the completed application tracking slip. Then the college counselor can forward your transcripts and any additional documents to complete the application process.

THE COMMON APPLICATION

An alternate online option is the Common Application. The Common Application is an online service utilized by over 700 colleges and universities to streamline the college application process. To determine if the college or university to which you wish to apply accepts the Common Application, you may check their website at www.commonapp.org or on the admissions page of the individual college's website. To match your Common Application and Naviance Family Connection account, students must log in to Naviance Family Connection. Go to the "Colleges I'm Applying to" tab and follow the step by step directions in the "Common App Account Matching" box.

HOW DO I REQUEST A LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION?

If the school to which you are applying requires letters of recommendation for admission, please follow this procedure:

1. At the end of their junior year, students will receive a College Planning Packet. This is needed for the Counselor Letter of Recommendation. This packet needs to be completed and returned to the college counselor and will be kept in the student's file.
2. If not already completed, ask one or both of your parents to complete the Parent Brag Sheet which is part of the College Planning Packet.
3. In the fall of their senior year, the college counselor meets with students and the Information Sheet for Teacher Letter of Recommendation is explained to them.
4. If the college does not specifically direct you, determine who your recommender will be- an employer, pastor, teacher or counselor. Choose this person thoughtfully.
5. Upon completion of the Information Sheet for Teacher Letter of Recommendation, this form needs to be submitted to one of the college counselors for approval. The student then submits the form to the teacher who will be writing the letter of recommendation.
6. Inform the person writing the letter of recommendation the date by which the letter must be completed. The sooner people write the letter of recommendation, the better for them and you.
7. Always give your recommender a minimum of two weeks to write the letter. Don't assume that he or she will, or even can, "drop everything" for you. Check back with your recommender in about a week as a "friendly reminder" so that they don't forget to write the letter. Always say - or write! - a sincere thank you for their efforts on your behalf.
8. All forms listed above may be found on Naviance Family Connection and the Counseling Department page of the Providence Catholic website and must be thoroughly completed before submission to the college counselor.

NAVIANCE
Family Connection

ARE THERE ANY GUIDELINES I SHOULD FOLLOW WHEN FILLING OUT AN APPLICATION?

Absolutely! Read the instructions before starting your application. Read the entire application carefully from beginning to end before filling out anything. Also:

1. Colleges expect you to be able to read and follow directions; accomplishing this can set the stage for a favorable decision.
2. Make certain your grammar and spelling are correct.
3. Watch deadlines.
4. Allow enough time for writing and revising.
5. Proofread your final application.
6. Proofread it again.
7. Save a copy of your completed application to keep in your files.
8. For all applications, use your Providence Catholic email account. Remember to keep it professional.
9. Keep your log-in password somewhere with the rest of your college files. You will need this information to access your application later or to get updates from that college.
10. If you apply via a college's website, turn in the application tracking slip. The college counselor will then send your transcript and any additional documents needed to complete your application.
11. If you apply via the Common Application service, you will need to submit an application tracking slip for each school to which you have applied. Remember to match your Common Application account with Naviance Family Connection through the Naviance Family Connection website.
12. If an essay or personal statement is required, be sure to upload the document to your application before submitting.

SAMPLE ESSAY QUESTIONS

Below you will find sample essay questions used by colleges and/or the Common Application.

1. Some students have a background, identity, interest, or talent that is so meaningful they believe their application would be incomplete without it. If this sounds like you, then please share your story.

2. The lessons we take from obstacles we encounter can be fundamental to later success. Recount a time when you faced a challenge, setback, or failure. How did it affect you, and what did you learn from the experience?

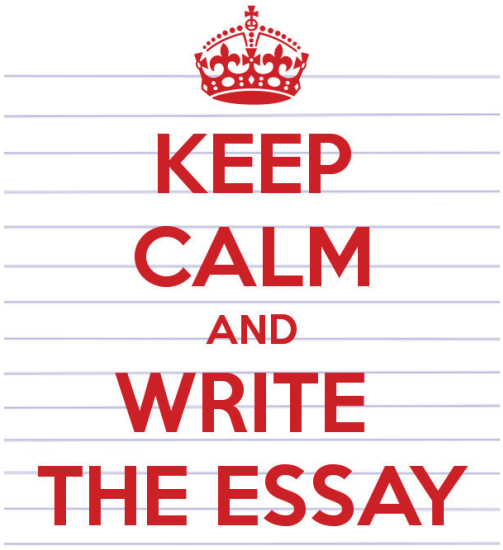
3. Reflect on a time when you questioned or challenged a belief or idea. What prompted your thinking? What was the outcome?

4. Describe a problem you've solved or a problem you'd like to solve. It can be an intellectual challenge, a research query, an ethical dilemma-anything that is of personal importance, no matter the scale. Explain its significance to you and what steps you took or could be taken to identify a solution.

5. Discuss an accomplishment, event, or realization that sparked a period of personal growth and a new understanding of yourself or others.

6. Describe a topic, idea, or concept you find so engaging that it makes you lose all track of time. Why does it captivate you? What or who do you turn to when you want to learn more?

7. Share an essay on any topic of your choice. It can be one you've already written, one that responds to a different prompt, or one of your own design.



WHAT ABOUT MY ACT AND SAT EXAMS?

We encourage all juniors to take the ACT test on April 14, 2018. All juniors are required to take the ACT in April or June of their junior year. All scores are reported to Providence Catholic. The SAT can also be taken in the spring of junior year. If you are not pleased with your scores, you may retake them to attempt a better score. Colleges and universities always accept the highest score you achieve. If you have not scored high enough for admission or if you would like to apply for a scholarship and have only an average score, you may retake the exam. The best preparation before taking the exam is to be sure you have a good night's rest.

Registration for the ACT can be completed at www.act.org and the SAT can be completed at www.collegeboard.org. Deadlines must be met for these exams and dates for the exams are listed below and posted in our College and Career Center as well as on the college representative calendar in the Counseling Department hallway. To improve your test scores, you may be interested in taking the ACT Preparation Course offered at Providence Catholic. Additional test prep resources are listed on the Counseling page of Providence Catholic website under "ACT/SAT Testing." You may also want to go to the ACT website or buy a preparation book from a local bookstore which would include sample tests. ACT's website is www.act.org. Sample ACT tests are also available from the college counselor.

HOW DO I OBTAIN A SCHOLARSHIP?

The criteria that colleges use for scholarships varies. They may include:

1. Cumulative grade point average
2. Test scores - the ACT and SAT
3. Letters of recommendation
4. Financial need

Special ability scholarships from colleges and universities, such as athletics, music, art, drama, etc., may include the same four criteria as above as well as your special talent.

There are also scholarships available from other agencies. Parents who are members of professional organizations or who are union members should check with their place of employment or professional organization as to scholarships available for college students. Listen to the announcements read during our school day for information on scholarship opportunities. The Counseling Department also emails home a monthly senior college information letter which lists scholarships available. These are also available on Naviance Family Connection and on the Counseling Department page of the Providence Catholic website.

Included in this booklet is information on the A.J. Felman Trust Scholarship, the Berman and Sons Accounting Scholarship, the Celtic Football Alumni Club New Alumni Football Scholarship, the Cleveland Family Scholarship, the Charles E. Murphy Scholarship to DePaul, the Ed Karnas Memorial Scholarship, the Dr. Kelly E. Ludwig Memorial Scholarship, the Matt "Laz" Lulinski Scholarship, the Kristen Zastro Scholarship, the Loretta Murphy Scholarship to Joliet Junior College, the Marquette Bank Scholarship, the Ronald Rob Memorial Scholarship, the Mrs. and Mrs. Frederick W. Schmidt, Sr., and Minnie Kuhn Scholarship, and the Villanova University Augustinian Scholarship which are awarded to Providence Catholic graduates. If you believe you would be interested in applying for any of these scholarships, notify the college counselors who will help you obtain the information. Not all scholarships are offered each year; amounts can vary from year to year.

Providence Catholic believes that applying for scholarships is simple; apply for as many as you can! Scholarships from colleges themselves and outside agencies are of two main types. Some are based on need and some are not. They may be simply based on competition such as GPA, test scores, etc. Of the two types of scholarships, those based on need are the most prevalent. This is another reason for filling out financial aid forms.

When you are notified that you have been awarded a scholarship, be sure to write a thank you note to the individual or organization who has selected you. Make a copy of your award letter and give it to the Counseling Department secretary whether you are accepting that scholarship or not. Providence Catholic keeps track of all scholarship offers. Let us know which ones you accept. Accepted scholarships will be listed in the graduation bulletin if they are received by the announced publication deadline.

WHAT ABOUT FINANCIAL AID?

You cannot apply for federal financial aid until October 1st of your senior year. Obtain the Free Application for Federal Student Aid Form (FAFSA) online (fafsa.ed.gov). This must be completed before a student can be considered for any grant, scholarship or loan. In addition to a FAFSA, some schools also require the CSS/Financial Aid Profile.

The Federal Student Aid Information Center will be able to help you with assistance in completing the federal student financial aid application and information about whether a school participates in federal student aid programs and the school's default rate. It can also explain federal student aid eligibility requirements and provide you with federal student aid publications. Their phone number is 1-800-4-FEDAID (1-800-433-3243).

The federal government requires young men to be registered with Selective Service as a prerequisite for receiving student financial aid. Young men must register within thirty days of turning 18. This can be done online at www.sss.gov. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000 and/or up to five years in prison.

College sticker prices range from $20,000 to $70,000. Most families do not pay sticker price thanks to scholarships and other forms of financial aid.

Find out what each college you're interested in has available in the way of financial aid. Estimated costs can be determined through the Net Price Calculator (NPC) which can be found on each school's website. Since it differs from school to school, find out what percentage of students receives financial aid.

The Internet can also provide valuable information on scholarship opportunities. Check out these websites for scholarship information:

finaid.org

Throughout your search, beware of companies that charge fees or guarantee scholarships. Offers that guarantee scholarships or ask for money to "hold" the scholarship may be a scam. Log on to the Federal Trade Commission's Web site at www.ftc.gov for more information on scholarship scams.

You may receive aid from one or more programs and are encouraged to apply even if you may think you're not eligible. Your college expects you to request federal and state aid and will need to know of your eligibility before setting up your financial aid package. You must apply every year and as early as possible while agencies still have funds to distribute.

In putting together financial aid packages, some individual colleges are considering the cost of high school (and grade school) tuition. You are strongly encouraged to save all of your tuition statements for proof of additional education expenses for those schools who may consider this when awarding financial aid. This typically can be a component of the appeal process. All questions regarding the appeal process should be directed to the Financial Aid office of the colleges of interest.

Initially, you may be overwhelmed by applications, instructions and programs. You'll learn about terms, initials of programs and forms and you may be a bit confused. As you become acquainted with them, you'll find they're not as hard to understand as you once thought they would be. To help you out, a list of financial aid terms is included on pages 22-23 of this handbook.

Many factors are involved in determining need: family income, assets, debts, number of dependents, family members attending college, unusual medical expenses, age of parents, retirement needs, the cost of attending the college you choose, and other circumstances.

Financial aid comes in three forms:

1. Scholarships and Grants-which you do not have to repay.
2. Loans-which you do have to repay.
3. College Work Study-which enables you to earn money working on or off campus while you are attending school.

When you pay for college, you may also be eligible for a tax credit. Check with a tax professional to determine if you are eligible.

A point to keep in mind is that the admissions decision and the financial aid decision are usually made separately and independently of one another in different offices on campus. The admissions decision comes first and it usually makes no difference whether or not you are a candidate for financial aid.

Usually within a week of filing your FAFSA online, the U.S. Department of Education will transmit a Student Aid Report (SAR). On the SAR will be either a request for further information or a number called an Expected Family Contribution (EFC). The EFC is a number that helps your financial aid administrator determine if you are able to get one of the several available forms of assistance. These include a Federal Pell Grant, Federal Stafford Loan, Federal SEOG, Federal Work-Study, and Federal Perkins Loan. Your school will use this number to determine the amount of your Federal Grant, loan or work-study award.

Those who also file the CSS/Financial Aid Profile will receive an acknowledgement separately. It will list the schools, agencies and programs that have been designated to receive the Profile information and will display important messages from colleges. Its purpose is to assist colleges, universities, and graduate/professional schools with awarding non-federal financial aid programs.

This checklist can help you put it all in perspective:

1. What is the cost?
   The college bill (tuition, room and board) _____
   Books and personal expenses _____
   Travel _____
   TOTAL _____

2. What financial aid is available?
   Scholarships _____
   Grants (all sources) _____
   Loans (including any guaranteed student loan) _____
   TOTAL _____

3. What is the difference?
   Deduct the total of #2 from #1 _____

4. What can the student contribute?
   Savings _____
   Summer earnings _____
   Part-time job earnings _____
   TOTAL _____

5. Are there any other resources?
   Benefits, gifts from relatives, friends, etc. _____

6. What is my bottom line?
   Add #4 to #5 and deduct from #3 _____

Before you submit any of your financial aid applications, be sure to save a copy and keep it with your records.

WHAT ABOUT DEADLINES AND CODE NUMBERS?

Everything you do concerning college admissions, scholarships and financial aid involves deadlines. Please be aware of these deadlines and meet them. Remember that this is school; being late doesn't cut it! Be sure you have entered the correct code numbers wherever they are required.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS

Some colleges recommend that during your four years of high school you should take the "Big Five": English, Math, Science, Social Science and World Language. Taking four years of these classes is the best preparation for admission into the college or university of your choice.

Students who have the easiest time making a college choice are those who prepare for it early in their high school career. All students are preparing for college through their course selection. By the end of the sophomore year or the beginning of the junior year, Naviance Family Connection and websites such as those listed on the Counseling Department section of the Providence Catholic website should be used by every student. Reading and familiarizing yourself with college websites is important. Making college visits over Easter break and during the summer of your junior year has proven to be very helpful, along with taking summer courses at a college or university.

In today's competitive college climate, colleges and employers are increasingly monitoring and checking social network sites for indication of a student's character. Colleges may revoke admission in order to get the best students and to avoid problems down the road.

Finally, please feel free to contact the college counselors any time with questions you or your parents have concerning a college. Make an appointment to meet with the college counselors, alone or with your parents.

The following information is provided to aid student athletes. Additional information regarding financial aid, recruiting, signing letters of intent, professionalism and drug policies and procedures may be obtained from our college counselors and/or the Athletic Director.

In higher education these are the following athletic divisions:

NCAA Division I
NCAA Division II
NCAA Division III
NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics)

WHAT DO I NEED TO KNOW IF I'M A COLLEGE BOUND STUDENT-ATHLETE AT THE NCAA DIVISION I OR DIVISION II LEVEL?

The NCAA Eligibility Center is the official body that reviews academic requirements for those students who plan to compete in an NCAA Division I or Division II sport. The information regarding NCAA eligibility that is listed on the following pages is to serve only as a guide to a general understanding of NCAA rules and regulations to help you avoid a violation of NCAA legislation that might cause the loss of your eligibility or disciplinary action against a member college.

In addition, many colleges and athletic conferences have rules that affect the recruitment and eligibility of prospective student-athletes. These rules may be more demanding than NCAA requirements. Accordingly, you should contact a college's Director of Athletics, as well as the college's conference, for interpretations of institutional and conference requirements.

For more information about the NCAA initial eligibility standards, please check the NCAA website for updated information at www.web3.ncaa.org or www.ncaa.org/student-athletes. These can be accessed through the Counseling Department page on the PCHS website, www.providencecatholic.org.

NCAA vs. NCAA ELIGIBILITY CENTER

There are two distinct and separate agencies involved when discussing the NCAA and the NCAA Eligibility Center.

The NCAA is the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which oversees athletic competition between colleges and universities.

The NCAA Eligibility Center is a separate and distinct organization which serves the NCAA by being the place where high school athletes register themselves. The Eligibility Center determines whether or not you are eligible to participate in NCAA athletic competition and receive athletically based financial aid. Determination is based on your high school credits, grades, standardized test scores, and other eligibility criteria. The Eligibility Center was established to protect student athletes from exploitation by colleges and universities who might seek to use your athletic eligibility for their own purposes rather than for the good of the student athlete.

The NCAA Eligibility Center exists to help register and protect student athletes. There are nearly one million high school football players and almost five hundred and fifty thousand basketball players playing every year. Of that number only about two hundred fifty student athletes make it to the National Football League, about fifty make it each year to the National Basketball Association.

When you consider these numbers, think carefully about what will really matter in the long run when it comes to your college career. Education will last much longer than your athletic career – even if you are one of those very few who make it to the big time.

ELIGIBILITY CENTER REGISTRATION

Every student who wishes to attend an NCAA Division I or Division II institution and who wishes to participate in intercollegiate athletics must register through the Eligibility Center. Complete information about registration is contained in the guide for the college-bound student-athlete available online.

EARLY ACTION CERTIFICATION

Students who meet the following criteria after six semesters will be certified as qualifiers.

- For Division I: Core course GPA of 3.0 or higher in a minimum of 13 core courses (3 English, 2 Math, 2 Science, 6 additional core courses), and a minimum sum ACT score of 75.
- For Division II: Core Course GPA of 3.0 or higher in a minimum of 12 courses (3 English, 2 Math, 2 Science, 5 additional core courses), and minimum score sum ACT Score of 85.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADES & STANDARDIZED TEST SCORES

Realize that beginning freshman year, all core course semester grades count toward NCAA eligibility. The wise student athlete who wishes to give himself/herself the best opportunity for a college scholarship in athletics is also a consistently hard working student who gets the best possible grades. All four years count!

If you are seriously considering registration with the Eligibility Center when you register to take the ACT or SAT, you can mark code 9999 so that the Eligibility Center will be one of the institutions receiving your scores. The alternative is to submit a request (and additional fee) for an additional score report to be sent to either ACT or SAT. The Eligibility Center will only accept test scores directly from the testing agencies. You may combine ACT or SAT scores achieved on more than one national testing date to meet the test score requirement.

Registration should take place beginning junior year. There is no deadline to register. However, to avoid hassles and problems later on, register by September of your senior year. To have your official transcripts sent to the NCAA Eligibility Center, complete an application tracking slip and submit this to the college counselors or Counseling Department administrative assistant.

DIVISION I ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

College-bound student-athletes will need to meet the following academic requirements to practice, receive athletic scholarships, and/or compete during their first year.

Core-Course Requirement

Complete 16 core courses in the following areas:

ENGLISH	MATH (Algebra I or higher)	NATURAL/ PHYSICAL SCIENCE (One year of lab, if offered)	ADDITIONAL ENGLISH, MATH OR NATURAL/ PHYSICAL SCIENCE	SOCIAL SCIENCE	ADDITIONAL COURSES (Any area listed to the left, foreign language or comparative religion/philosophy)
4 years	3 years	2 years	1 year	2 years	4 years

Full Qualifier

- Complete 16 core courses.
  - Ten of the 16 core courses must be completed before the seventh semester (senior year) of high school.
  - Seven of the 10 core courses must be in English, math or science.
- Earn a core-course GPA of at least 2.300.
- Earn the ACT/SAT score matching your core-course GPA on the Division I sliding scale (see back page).
- Graduate high school.

Academic Redshirt

- Complete 16 core courses.
- Earn a core-course GPA of at least 2.000.
- Earn the ACT/SAT score matching your core-course GPA on the Division I sliding scale (see back page).
- Graduate high school.

Full Qualifier:

College-bound student-athletes may practice, compete and receive athletics scholarships during their first year of enrollment at an NCAA Division I school.

Academic Redshirt:

College-bound student-athletes may receive athletics scholarships during their first year of enrollment and may practice during their first regular academic term, but may NOT compete during their first year of enrollment.

Nonqualifier:

College-bound student-athletes cannot practice, receive athletics scholarships or compete during their first year of enrollment at an NCAA Division I school.

Test Scores

When a student registers for the SAT or ACT, he or she can use the NCAA Eligibility Center code of 9999 so his or her scores are sent directly to the NCAA Eligibility Center from the testing agency. Test scores on transcripts will NOT be used in his or her academic certification.

A combined SAT score is calculated by adding reading and math subscores. An ACT sum score is calculated by adding English, math, reading and science subscores. A student may take the SAT or ACT an unlimited number of times before he or she enrolls full time in college. If a student takes either test more than once, the best subscore from different tests are used to meet initial-eligibility requirements.

If a student took the SAT before March 2016 and then took the redesigned SAT at a later date, the NCAA Eligibility Center will not combine section scores from the old and redesigned SAT when determining his or her initial eligibility. The NCAA Eligibility Center will only combine section scores from the same version of the test. Because the redesigned SAT varies in design and measures different academic concepts than the old SAT, a numerical score on the old test may not be equivalent to the same numerical score on the redesigned test.

Test Scores

If a student took the SAT before March 2016 and then took the redesigned SAT at a later date, the NCAA Eligibility Center will not combine section scores from the old and redesigned SAT when determining his or her initial eligibility. The NCAA Eligibility Center will only combine section scores from the same version of the test. Because the redesigned SAT varies in design and measures different academic concepts than the old SAT, a numerical score on the old test may not be equivalent to the same numerical score on the redesigned test.

NCAA is a trademark of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

WHAT DO I NEED TO KNOW IF I'M AN NAIA COLLEGE BOUND STUDENT-ATHLETE?

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletes (NAIA) is the governing body for athletic programs at nearly 300 colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada.

The NAIA Eligibility Center is responsible for determining the NAIA eligibility of first-time student athletes. Any student playing NAIA sports must meet the eligibility requirements. For more information about the NAIA eligibility standards, please refer to the NAIA website for updated information at www.playnaia.org, then click on NAIA Eligibility Center.

NAIA INITIAL ACADEMIC ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

The NAIA Eligibility Center will determine your eligibility based on your academic record and additional information you provide. High school graduates must meet two out of three of the following requirements:

1. Achieve a minimum of 940 on the SAT or the minimum ACT score TBD. (The minimum ACT is currently under review. Check the website at www.playnaia.org for the most up to date information.)
2. Achieve a minimum overall high school GPA of 2.0 on a 4.0 scale or 940 on SAT (if taken March 2016 or later.)
3. Graduate in the top half of your high school class. (Providence Catholic does not rank its students.)

Students who have completed their junior year of high school and have at least a 3.0 GPA on a 4.0 scale and the minimum test scores required, may obtain an eligibility determination before graduating from high school. Those students will need to request that their official transcripts after their junior year be sent to the NAIA Eligibility Center and contact ACT or SAT to have their test scores sent directly.

To have your NAIA eligibility determined by the NAIA Eligibility Center, your ACT or SAT scores must be sent directly from the testing agency. When you register for the ACT or SAT be sure to include the NAIA Eligibility Center as one of the places you want your test scores to be sent. The NAIA code is 9876 for both the ACT and the SAT.

If you have already taken the ACT or SAT, you must log into your ACT or SAT account to request that your scores be sent directly to the NAIA Eligibility Center. An additional fee will be involved.
